Dying 'Mid the Roses, Charlie,
Softly, sweetly as they die,
I am dreaming of a twilight
In the silent years gone by,
When the flowers, as now, were sleeping
On the hushed breasts of the breeze—
And a wave of rechest music And a voice of richest music Lisp to me beneath the trees; Then I thought the even's closes

Were like heaven—for thou wast nigh! Now—I'm dying 'mid the rosese, Softly, sweetly as they die.

Last night, in the hush of Dreamland, Bending at a starry shrine, Met I some young angle, Charlie, With a lip and brow like thine; And his eyes were scarely bluer Yet more tender. Gazing where Heaven was arching, low he murmured; I will be thy lover there! So while twilight's curtain closes Dimly round the sea and sky,

I am dying 'mid the roses, Softly, sweetly as they die. Flug thy hair's gold curling, Charlie, From thy blue-veined brow awhile; Give now thy white hand's slightness; Gaze into my eyes and smi Ay, thou art a shape of beauty.

And I sigh to leave thee here-

But one brighter and-more constant, Waits me in another sphere! So, though then the even's closes Seemed like heaven that hou was nigh-Now-I'm dying 'mid the roses, Softly, sweetly, as they die.

See, the young moon comes and gazes Sadly through her misty veil, While my brow grows cold and colder-Ah, thine own is sadly pale. Charlie, thou didst leave me lonely! But the angel will be true— For no heart is ever broken Past you starry deep of blue! So, while twilight's curtain closes Dimly round the sea and sky, I shall die amid the roses, Softly, sweetly, as they die.

WHAT AN EDITOR MIGHT HAVE BEEN .-Holland the editor of the Springfield sketches what he should have been, if he had not left home and become an editor:

on a farm summers, and gone out having fifteen days in July, and taken for pay the iron work and running gear of a wagon .-At two and twenty, or thereabouts, he would have begun to pay, atentions to a girl with a father worth two thousand dollars, market, embracing the largest and linest assortment and a spit ourl on her ferehead-a girl who always went to singing school, and set in the seats and sung without opening her mouth—a pretty girl anyway. Well after seeing her home from singing two or three years, taking her to a Fourth of July celebration, and getting about a hundred dollars together, he would marry her and settle down. SPEDDEN'S ADV'T, ETC.

SPEDDEN'S AGUE AND FEVER PILLS THE greatest remedy in the known world for a permanen; cure of Chills, Asue and Fever, when properly used according to the directions, they will cure any case, it makes no difference how long it may have been running, they will cure it. Price 75 cents.

SPEDDEN'S ANTI-BILIOUS

CURBS Headache, fullness and sickness of Stomach, disordered bowels, habitual costiveness, Bilious or other Fevers, juandice, and in every instance when the liver and spleen are affected, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Kings Evil, Colds and in all cases when a medicine is needed to cleanse the system and purify the blood; many cases of sore eyes have been cured by these pills.

Liver Complaint, and all Bullious Affections arise from some derangemen—either torpidity, congestion, or obstructions of the Liver. Torpidity and congestion valuate the bite and render it unfit for digestion. This is disastrous to the health, and the constitution is frequently undermined by no other causes. Indigestion is the sympton. Obstruction of the duct which empties the bile into the stomach causes the bile to overflow into the blood. This produces Jaundice, with a long and dangerous train of evils.

Ague AND Feven.—Speeden's Anti-billious Pills, in cases of Ague and Fever, when taken with tonic medicine is productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Tonics. We would advise all who are afflicted with this dis-
